If the Report is well-founded, further information may be requested to the Whistleblower.

The legal basis for the Processing is the fulfilment of a legal obligation. In particular, the compliance with the Directive and the Directive Transposition Laws.

The internal investigation activity carried out following a Whistleblowing Report is also carried out on the basis of the legitimate interest of the Data Controller in combating the cases covered by the Reported Subject Matters, including violations of the law.

5. Ways of processing

Your Personal Data will be processed in accordance with the applicable legal provisions on the processing of Personal Data, both electronically and by automated and manual means. The Data Controller adopts appropriate technical and organisational measures to ensure a level of security appropriate to the risk.

6. Data retention period

Any Personal Data communicated will be kept for the time needed to manage the Report and to verify its validity, and in any case - unless otherwise provided for by the applicable local laws - for no longer than six months from the notification to the Whistleblower of the closure of the Report, after which it will be deleted, without prejudice to the possible establishment of a judicial proceeding for which the Data may be kept for the entire duration of the proceeding and will be kept for 10 years from the closure of the inquiry. Epta S.p.A. or the relevant EPTA Company will promptly inform the Data Subject about the processing of his/her Data, except where it is necessary to delay the notice to guarantee the integrity of the investigation and the preservation of the relevant information.

The EPTA Companies will act as autonomous data controllers according to the applicable local data processing law.

8. Data transfer

In the context of the Processing activity, the Personal Data subject to Report may be transferred to countries outside the European Union, including the United States, China, Argentina, Singapore, Australia, Chile, Costa Rica, Turkey, Peru, Philippines, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates, United Kingdom, Vietnam, Thailand, Mexico, New Caledonia, depending on the EPTA Company involved or to which the Report relates.

In the event of transfer of Data outside the European Union, the Data Controller shall ensure compliance with the applicable legal provisions by entering, if necessary, into agreements guaranteeing an adequate level of protection and/or the adoption of standard contractual clauses provided for by the European Commission.

9. Data subjects rights and ways to exercise them

Generally speaking, under the GDPR, the Data Subject has the right to access his or her Data, in particular to obtain confirmation of its existence or non-existence at any time and to know its content, origin, geographical location and to request a copy. The Data Subject also has the right to verify the accuracy of the Data or request that it be supplemented, updated, rectified, limited, erased, transformed into an anonymous form or blocked if processed in breach of the law, as well as to oppose its processing in any case. Furthermore, the Data Subject has the right to request the portability of his or her Personal Data.

However, in the present case and in your capacity as a Concerned Person, the rights under Articles 15 to 22 GDPR may not be exercised (by request to the Data Controller or by a complaint pursuant to Article 77 GDPR) if actual and concrete prejudice to the confidentiality of the identity of the Whistleblower (see. Article 23 GDPR) and/or to the pursuit of the objectives of compliance with the legislation on reporting unlawful conduct, as set out in the Directive, the Directive Transposition Laws and/or in other relevant local laws on reporting unlawful conduct, may arise.

In particular, the Concerned Person is informed that the exercise of such rights:

- shall be carried out in accordance with the provisions of the law or regulations governing the sector (including the Directive and the Directive Transposition Laws);
- may be delayed, limited or excluded by reasoned notice given without delay to the Data Subject, unless such notice might jeopardise the purpose of the Report, for such time and to the extent that this constitutes a necessary and proportionate measure, having regard to the fundamental rights and legitimate interests of the Data Subject, in order to safeguard the confidentiality of the identity of the Whistleblower.

The exercise of the Concerned Person rights (including the right of access) may therefore be exercised to the extent permitted by the applicable law and, in particular, it should be noted that the request will be analysed by the bodies in charge in order to reconcile the need to protect the rights of individuals with the need to fight and prevent violations of the Reported Subject Matters.

10. Timing of disclosure

In accordance with the indications of the European Supervisory Authorities, it is specified that the specific information notice with respect to the personal data processed by the Data Controller as a result of the specific Report may also be provided after the 30-day period referred to in Article 14(3) GDPR if providing the information notice would jeopardise internal investigations.
